WANT TO EARN MORE? HEARING AIDS MAY BE THE ANSWER!

Most people who need hearing aids are still in the work force. Many of these individuals are not aware of the implications that hearing loss has on employability, job performance and earning potential. In a recent study of 40,000 households (Hearing Journal, October 2010), several important issues were brought to light:

* Individuals can lose up to $30,000 annually with untreated hearing loss. However, when individuals use hearing aids, this discrepancy is decreased by up to 100 % for milder losses and up to 77% for those with severe hearing losses.

*Hearing loss that has not been treated with hearing aids, effects a person's ability to gain employment. There tends to be a correlation between the degree of hearing loss and the rate of unemployment, when the individual has not been fit with hearing aids. People with severe losses tend to have double the unemployment rate (15%) compared to normal-hearing individuals.

If hearing loss is affecting you, one solution would be to consider the benefits of being fit with hearing aids. It may be your best investment ever. For more information, please contact Professional Hearing Services at 262-549-5150.
